

3 CENT FARE
CASE ARGUED

Arizona Commission Consents to Injunction in Case of the Arizona Eastern.

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 1.—When the three cent rate case was called in the United States district court here today, counsel for the Arizona Corporation commission agreed to the entering of a permanent injunction order in the case of the Arizona Eastern Railroad company, restraining the commission from enforcing its order for a three cent rate in the case of this railroad. The cases of the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific roads went over to the next term at request of counsel for the commission.

The cases are in the district court on appeal from the decision of the corporation commission about a year ago, putting into effect a three cent rate on the three above named roads, effective within the state.

It was admitted in the hearing before the commission that the Arizona Eastern passenger receipts are less than the expense of handling under the present rates and the restraining order in this case was agreed to. Assistant attorney general Kramer, who has had charge of the rate cases for the commission, went out of office yesterday, which made the continuance necessary.

City Could Clean Up
Bonded Debt In 38
Years, Says Bandeen

If the city of El Paso would adopt the actuary plan of sinking fund collection, it would take until 1955 for all municipal debts to be paid, according to figures taken from data collected by Dewitt A. Bandeen, secretary of the Taxpayers' association.

The amount paid this year for the redemption fund would be $12,246, and it would diminish each year until it reached $250 in 1955, when the rate would be about 50 cents less than at present.

WORKING STEADILY ON DRAINAGE IN LOWER VALLEY

Three shifts of men are working every day on the middle and main drains in the lower valley, according to James A. Smith, water user's president. The men were at work on these two jobs, and the work is going now 24 hours a day. Mr. Smith is now busy trying to get enough money to insure the continuance of this work.

EL PASOANS SEE THE JUMBOMINE

Work Is Progressing Nicely and Stock Rising Rapidly on the Curb.

Thirty people accompanied S. F. Baletine from El Paso to the Jumbomine at Cook's Peak, N. M., on Sunday, leaving in a special car over the S. P. at 6:45 a. m. and returning at 10:15 Sunday night.

The party left the train at Deming and rode to the mine, 24 miles distant, in automobiles, taking lunch at the mine and inspecting the property during the afternoon, returning to Deming in time to have a couple of hours there before the arrival of the party.

The party was composed of a number of El Pasoans who have bought stock in the mine as well as several of the buyers and bankers of the city who wished to make a personal inspection of the property.

The Jumbomine is a lead-silver proposition, located very near the famous old Graphic mine, which has yielded some very rich ore in its time. In fact, the Jumbomine claims, 12 in number, embracing a total of 240 acres, surround the Graphic claim.

There are four veins in the Jumbomine and vein number 4 is believed to be a continuation of the old Graphic vein.

The Jumbomine shaft is now down 275 feet and a force of 20 men are working on a shift of eight hours each, some cutting to reach vein number two is in progress on the 300 foot level and a crosscut is being run from the 300 foot level to reach vein No. 1. From the 250 foot level, it is the intention to crosscut all four veins, eventually.

C. W. Lindinger, formerly of Mexico, has been secured as superintendent of the mine and is in charge of the work. He is very enthusiastic over what has been found in the shaft and crosscuts and points to the outcroppings on the surface as indicating the rich character of the ore likely to be encountered. From several prospect holes on the property some good ore has also been taken.

The mine has been equipped with a 60 horsepower Diesel engine, direct connected, for operating the hoists, and a compressed air plant, with a free air capacity of 25 pounds is also in operation. This is sufficient to operate four drills, although only one is now being operated. There is ample water in the mine for all purposes, yet not sufficient to hamper the work, it is stated.

John J. Hyatt, of Deming, is the president of the company and Ed L. Packard, of Deming, is secretary-treasurer. The company is capitalized for $250,000 and the outstanding stock is now less than 150,000 shares. The stock was listed on the New York

'FLAME OF YUKON'
GREGIAN TODAY

Dorothy Dalton Back Again in Most Remarkable Play of Her Career.

"The Flame of the Yukon," considered from coast to coast the most remarkable production of the year, will be shown at the Gregian theater today and through Wednesday.

This is the picture in which Dorothy Dalton appears as an Alaskan dance hall girl, known as "The Flame," that, like the great brawlers, beckons and lures, but is not for man to have and to hold. In this character Miss Dalton reaches the zenith of her remarkable art, and gives a finished portrayal which has endeared her in the hearts of not only the mass of movie fans, but to the cultured critics as well.

It is not necessary to go into details about this picture, for it is so well known to El Paso fans that a long discourse would be superfluous. On its last presentation at the Gregian, it played four days to capacity business, notwithstanding the hot weather. Many have expressed themselves as wanting to see this picture again and surely none who missed it before will overlook the opportunity that is theirs today.

curb last June at 50 cents and it is now quoted at three and one-half and three and five-eighths.

The mine is located in the vicinity of old Fort Comstock, close to the old Butterfield stage line, and the road from Deming to the mine is in splendid condition. The run each way on Sunday was made in an hour and a half by automobile.

ARCHITECT BARNETT HERE.—Dr. George Barnett, president of the architectural firm of Barnett, Haynes & Barnett, of St. Louis, and designer of St. Patrick's cathedral at Arizona and Mesa, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon for a stay of several days at Hotel Paso del Norte. He will inspect the edifice.

The marble for altars of the cathedral has reached here from St. Louis.

MARY PICKFORD
TO APPEAR IN 'REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM'

Screen's Greatest Favorite to Appear in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

Mary Pickford, the darling of the screen, will be seen in a limited engagement of but two days at the Wigwam "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," which is said to be her greatest screen triumph. Critics even go so far as to say that it surpasses "A Poor Little Rich Girl." Edgar E. Campbell, one of the owners of the Wigwam, writes from Los Angeles that it is positively the best thing that "Little Mary" has ever done.

"It's a darling," he declares. "Well, the famous New York critic says in his headline: 'Best Pickford ever.' I cannot recall ever having seen in any one picture a greater number of beautiful effects. Come to the picture. Avoid the night crowds."

Wednesday and Thursday, the Pickford beauty, "The Girl Who Could Not Grow Up," it is as fascinating as "Jackie of the Navy," and presents a picture of a girl in the role of a lumby. It is a peach.—Adv.

ROTARIANS FAIL TO ATTEND PERFORMANCE THEY FATHER

El Pasoans apparently have little appreciation of Shakespeare and his masterpieces, judging by the small attendance at the performance of the Ben Greer Players at the Texas Grand on Saturday. The night house was almost deserted.

The Ben Greer Players gave about the best reading of the lines of this masterpiece ever given in El Paso. The stage was set with curtains in the Elizabethan style, and unhampered by unnecessary scenery or unnecessary costumes, the actors had nothing to detract from the pure English of the lines as written by the immortal bard of Avon.

Erskine Sanford gave a most sympathetic rendition of the character of Shylock, and before the curtain went down on the court scene, he had the sympathy of every member of the audience. In fact, one of the best performances of Shylock ever seen in El Paso—many said it was the best—and the small number in the audience were enthusiastic in their praise and liberal with their applause. Miss Grace Haines gave a splendid interpretation of the character of Portia. Other roles were in good hands.

Although the Ben Greer Players were brought to El Paso by El Paso Rotary only one Rotarian, William H. P. Ford, was present, besides the Rotarian committee having the affair in charge and not one of these committed men were present. All the patronage came from the public acquainted well enough with the ability of the Ben Greer Players not to wish to miss such a treat.

The same company appears tonight at the Texas Grand in the "Fairy Comedy," "The Palace of Truth," written by Gilbert, who in perhaps more famous as a light opera author.

OTIS OLIVER PLAYERS IN A SPLENDID COMEDY

"It Pays to Advertise," a comedy with a laugh in every line, is the bill for the third week of the Oliver Players at the Crawford theater.

The play is well handled by Otis Oliver and his people and the large Sunday audiences were highly pleased with the comedy, which tells of the success of a son, after he finally hits his gait, in a campaign of advertising for a soap which he puts on the market in an effort to bust his dad's soap trust.

Miss Lillian DesMondes, an stenographer, who reforms the son and finally marries him, is very clever. Mr. Oliver as the son, also pleases the audience immensely. Other characters are in the hands of performers who seemed to give satisfaction.

TODAY'S AMUSEMENTS

"ENLIGHTEN THY DAUGHTER."

There is a most impressive and stirring lesson for the lovers of the silent drama in "Enlighten Thy Daughter," which will be at the Alhambra theater tonight. The photodrama, which is a seven reel production, is a presentation of a subject of vital importance to every parent. It shows the tremendous evil of keeping growing girls in ignorance of some of the greatest facts of life. A person cannot see this big, gripping story and doubt that it is "Enlighten Thy Daughter" is one of the most sacred duties of a parent. The theme is presented in a manner that cannot fail to carry conviction and the whole production is an achievement that has called forth unstinted praise from both the trade and secular press, as well as the thousands that crowded the Park theater during its four weeks' stay at New York.

This is beyond doubt one of the biggest photoplays ever shown in El Paso and the Alhambra management feels that no one can afford to miss it. Prices are 10c, 15c and 25c.—Adv.

WAR PICTURES—EXQUE.

The last lingering doubt of the skeptic and the pacifist as to why the United States is now at war with Germany will vanish when you see "In the Wake of the Huns," the official French war pictures that will be shown today, tomorrow and Wednesday. These pictures will stir the blood of every beholder and raise it to fighting pitch.

You will see the pursuing French and the retreating Germans vacating territory held by them for several years and the vast destruction of this territory. You will see the very ground on which the American forces are shortly to be fighting. The admission will be 10 cents and it will be wise to come to the matinee.—Adv.

Baby Shop Chats To Mothers

By Miss Angela Watson, "The Popular's" Graduate Nurse.

IN my talk today I shall tell mothers what the essentials are in a good nursery.

The furnishings should be simple, and unnecessary hangings and upholstered furniture should be excluded. As large a room as possible should be selected—one that is well ventilated, and always one in which the sun shines at some part of the day, as it should be remembered that the average child spends here at least three fourths of its time during the first year. The nursery should have dark shades at the windows, but no extra curtains; about the baby's crib nothing but what can be washed should be allowed. The air should be kept as fresh and as pure as possible. There should be no plumping, no drying of napkins or gasses, no cooking of food, and no gas burning at night. A small wax night light answers every purpose.

My next talk I shall tell you how a nursery should be heated, at what temperature it should be kept day and night, how often it should be aired and what symptoms are seen in a child who is kept in too hot a room.

MYSTERY GIRL SINGS TUESDAY

Will Be Given Reception at Sheldon; Pasograph Company to Take Picture.

An result of the permission of James C. Quinn and also because of the fact that he was representing such a worthy cause, "the girl of mystery," the golden voiced songstress who was discovered by him a few days ago "somewhere in El Paso," will sing in the interests of the Red Cross "Festival of the Allies," which opens next Wednesday and runs for four days. The girl, however, may not sing during the festival itself unless the mother's objections can be further overcome, and it was only after the use of a great deal of diplomacy that she agreed to let her daughter appear at all. Arrangements have been made for her to sing for the first time to the public at an open air reception to be given her tomorrow between 12 and 12:30 on the balcony of Hotel Sheldon. The mother having partly consented to her appearance on the stage during the course of the big allied affair, she is satisfied that she will be doing the girl's delicate voice justice by allowing her to sing in the open.

Motion pictures will be taken of all those taking part in the introduction of "the girl of mystery," as well as of all the spectators, to be shown on nights to be announced later, at the festival, through the courtesy of the Pasograph company. During the taking of the pictures a scene will be made with Miss Carolyn Wagner, the famous star, assuming the leading role, to be used in the picture now under production by the company.

Immediately after the photographing of the crowd "the girl of mystery" will appear, and, posing for the camera, she will be introduced by one of the city officials, probably the mayor, and will immediately begin the song she has prepared for the occasion. While she sings, somewhere
